

Latest Tuscazoar News

Start thinking now about listing your group's 2006-2007 event dates on the Camp Tuscazoar Calendar of Events. For only $15 each, your group can have unlimited listings. If you are planning a special event, such as an Eagle ceremony, why not mark the event on our calendar so that everyone knows? A form for listings will be included in the next Breeze. Also, if your group or company would like to put a logo on the camp calendar, please contact Nancy Schoenbaum. This effort not only mails out calendars to our members at no charge, but also helps us generate much-needed funds for upkeep and maintenance.

Are you a member of the Camp Tuscazoar Foundation? The cost is only $15 per person to join and the benefits (as they say in the commercial) are priceless. Where else can you work and play so hard, yet enjoy such beauty right outside your door? Please consider becoming a member. We would love to have you.

Foundation acquires additional 241 acres of camp property

The Camp Tuscazoar Foundation has purchased 241 acres of the original Camp Tuscazoar property from a Dover woman.

The newly-acquired acre tract includes several landmarks familiar to camp patrons, including the Stone Memorial Lodge, Buzzard's Roost, Troop One Cabin and the Zoarite Iron Mines. The Foundation now owns 351 of the 464 total acres that once comprised the camp. A grant from the Clean Ohio Fund's Green Space Conservation Program, which is administered through the Ohio Public Works Commission, made the purchase possible.

"We are delighted to have this opportunity," said Bob Spencer, president of the Foundation. "This purchase helps us preserve our secluded atmosphere and puts us one step closer to unifying the original camp property. We are especially pleased to have the Stone Lodge and Troop One Cabin within our borders again. These buildings will be welcome additions to our camping facilities."

The Stone Memorial Lodge was built in 1978 with funds donated by the Stone Family of Zoarville who are descendants of the original Zoar Separatists. Troop One Cabin was built in the 1940s by the scouts of Troop One of the McKinley Boy Scout Council in Canton.

Buzzard's Roost is a rocky outcropping and Native American lookout which sits above Dover Dam. The Zoarite Iron Mines are one of the last known sites where the Zoar Separatists mined iron ore to feed two stone furnaces in which they made pig iron for sale and conversion into implements such as stoves.

The Foundation closed the purchase in mid-March and has already opened both Troop One Cabin and the Stone Memorial Lodge for camping.

Work continues on new camp lodge

The shell of the new Richard W. Belcher Memorial Lodge is complete and ready for campers, but the building still needs much work. We have several grant requests outstanding, but the building cannot be finished until additional donations are received. The building is heated and water will be available at the frost-free by Duryee Lodge. The new camp water system is almost complete and the electrical work has been finished. But, once again, dollars are needed to cover the costs of this work. We would also gratefully accept any donations of supplies (conduit, plugs, electrical boxes, interior plumbing supplies, cabinets, counters, etc.) Also, if you are handy in any of these areas, please let us know. We sure hope to have this building completed soon. With your help, we can do it.

Camp seeks Do’cents for events

“Do’cent” means “to teach” or “a teacher or lecturer not on the regular faculty.” We are seeking do’cents for our event weekends such as Dover Dam Weekend and our Pig Roast Weekend and for future school programs being considered. We have a wonderful facility and we need people to help others get the full benefit of our camp. If you have time to assist us with our programs, please contact Nancy Schoenbaum. This job won’t require a lot of physical work except passing on your memories to those who have yet to experience the wonders of these hills. For more information, call 330-493-1386 or send a note to our PO Box.
